

We haven't disappeared!

We haven't disappeared and I really would love to blog more. The hard part is trying to find the time. There really has been a lot that has gone on since Kaylin's 1st birthday and I hope to blog soon about Halloween, Thanksgiving, and now Christmas and New Years....whoa! Someone slow down the clock or add more hours in the day with an energy pill for me to take after the little chica is in bed in order to do what I want to do besides crash on the couch and veg...ahhhh....

hope to see you soon on here...